

TROUP TOGETHER

Troup Together is a community group committed to collecting stories, building dialogue, healing divisions, and seeking justice.

Troup Together

- searches for the untold stories of the people of Troup County, Georgia, and surrounding areas
- helps small groups revisit history together in facilitated conversations and journeys
- builds bridges, neighbor to neighbor, through education, dialogue, and reflection about the past
- works for restorative justice in the community

Without [truth about the past], people have no sense of safety, no trust, no confidence in the future. The aim must be...to build a shared future from a divided past. There is no alternative way to lasting peace.

— Archbishop Desmond Tutu of South Africa
